

Eligible research ongoing in NHS Scotland can be supported using any of the NRS funding streams either through a Clinical Research Network or directly supported by an NHS Board. Studies which are eligible for support can also be included in the data submitted to inform future funding.

Note: In order to be supportable and included in data used to inform funding, projects must comply with NRS Funding Guidance.

The list of eligible funders is updated regularly. A data cut will be taken at the allocation period end and those funders on the list will be considered eligible for the analysis.

Studies which are initially eligible but where the mix of funding changes over time will normally continue to be considered eligible even if the study funding changes in such a way that no eligible funder is supporting the study. Studies must initially meet the criteria for eligibility. CSO may, from time to time, ask for additional evidence that a study is aligned with the aims and objectives of NHS Scotland in order to confirm continued eligibility. NB: In such cases add the new funders to ReDA but do not delete the previous funders who made this study initially eligible.
